for
these precious tidings
Joseph & Gracie
embraced with tears
of gratitude & then astounded me by embracing me
too. In an instant
misery was gone &
tumultuous happiness had taken its place. I turned expan old Marlow &
said —

"There, sir, is the door, be gone! You will be paid, never fear.
And if you should want to borrow any money," I said, with bitter sarcasm, "do not hesitate

to say so, for we procure
borrow all we
with our present
since prospect

We went ave
raging, & we went gaily to wo
dusting stock
shrouds & settin
ready for the m lucrative
princely day's w
the our little shop
ever known.

Little remain
to be told. Our po
peril moved slo
along without a Everything seemed
spine to help us.